

INVITATIONS

When ordering Invitations, remember...

1. Ordering should be done 6 months in advance; 8-9 months for Save-the-Date cards.
2. Be sure to count family units, not individuals to determine number needed.
3. Be realistic when budgeting for invitations and other printed goods, and don't forget to include the cost of stamps.
4. Hebrew can be incorporated into the wording, if desired.
5. Determine what printed accessories are needed; i.e. RSVP, reception, direction, weekend cards, etc.
6. It's necessary to order extra invitations. Your consultant can help you determine how many.
7. Problems do occasionally arise...deal with someone who can troubleshoot for you.
8. Everyone wants their invitation to be special. Work with someone who can help you customize it.
9. Your invitation supplier should be a knowledgeable, professional vendor, as they will save you time and money.
10. An invitation consultant's experience is priceless and comes at no extra charge.
11. Choosing your invitations for a Bar/Bat Mitzvah is a very emotional process - don't minimize the importance of working with a supportive and caring individual (which you won't get from ordering online)
